

ONE LAST TIME

VOLUME: 6
ISSUE: 9
STUDENT
2011

Guess The Teacher

(In test-style format.)

- _____ 1. Mrs. Moninger
- _____ 2. Mrs. Badgley
- _____ 3. Mrs. Peterson
- _____ 4. Mrs. Mohr
- _____ 5. Mrs. Lewis
- _____ 6. Mr. Cole
- _____ 7. Mr. Schwarz
- _____ 8. Mrs. Ayres
- _____ 9. Mr. Swingle
- _____ 10. Mr. Mohr
- _____ 11. Mr. Jag
- _____ 12. Mr. White
- _____ 13. Ms. Bailey

- a) This teacher carries his/her laptop like a pizza box and loves making children do push-ups.
- b) This teacher drinks pop and pledges to quit every day. The more he/she tires, the more his/her southern accent comes out.
- c) This teacher sings and sometimes sprays kids with Febreeze.
- d) This teacher hides chocolate everywhere and then proceeds to tell everyone that what they’re eating is unhealthy.
- e) This teacher always says “OK, kiddos” while doing the “ok” sign with her hand and is obsessive about his/her black pens.
- f) This teacher laughs too loud and must always have a poptart on his/her desk.
- g) This teacher hates puns and frequently “loses” his/her laser pointer and remote.
- h) This teacher keeps tons of Listerine in his/her cabinets and sometimes wears a speaker.
- i) This teacher has a pink organizational folder and his/her favorite song is “I Feel Like a Woman.”
- j) This teacher combs his hair with a tiny comb and reads weird daily facts while drinking out of a beaker.
- k) This teacher says “That’a baby!” and practically sprints everywhere.
- l) This teacher sneaks up on people, even in heels, and always has a cup of coffee to drink.
- m) This teacher loses his/her sticky notes and is happiest while students suffer during an awful test.

H o r o s c o p e s

Aries

An apple never falls far from the tree EXCEPT when it’s hurricane season. There’s a chance you can change! Start something new! Don’t buy your dress for prom now, because chances are, it’s going to be too small to fit in it by next year.

Leo

You have two pairs of pants that look absolutely horrible on you in your closet right now. Throw them out. Just throw them out. Get a lot of sleep this month, because the coffee you think is helping is actually about to send you to the hospital.

Sagittarius

An incompetent co-worker will cause you more work. Suppress the urge to do nasty things to his coffee mug. Make sure to discover that words can actually rhyme with orange. Your life will get better.

Taurus

Today, you can look a gift horse in the mouth. This way you can see what’s wrong with that certain gift-giver. Don’t forget to wear a lot of sunscreen this summer, your white skin really doesn’t seem to tan well.

Virgo

Your full-o-crud meter is well-tuned and highly functioning. Today is a good day to cast judgment on others and refuse to accept it from them.

Capricorn

You are likely to put your foot in your mouth. Luckily, nobody will actually care. Paint your toenails, otherwise you may scare off your next date.

Gemini

Long-winded rambling messages coming at you all day. Go for a jog, but avoid pink headbands, because they will cause car crashes.

Libra

View mayonnaise with an incredibly critical eye today. Consider yourself warned. Some good stuff might happen to you today, but it won’t matter if you don’t take the advice on the mayo.

Aquarius

Your losing streak is about to end. Keep making lame attempts. Avoid gum chewing though, no matter how much it hurts.

Cancer

Go get ‘em tiger! They certainly aren’t coming to you. You can forget about fixing up your yard; the tornado of the year is coming straight for you.

Scorpio

Problems seem easily solvable--when they are happening to someone else. Ignore condescending advice from others and loaded firearms. Also, avoid saying hello to any odd-looking strangers.

Pisces

Your computer is on the verge of a major fit. Stop clicking so much and back up data. Buy a plethora of eyeliner; chances are your next few sticks will break into chunks over and over...and over again.

Which Senior am I?

How well do you know the Class of 2011?

"I am very tall. I am the baby of my family. I built the bridge for the prom of 2010. Who am I?"

"I have a big family. I have two sisters in school. I rarely wear jeans. Who am I?"

"I moved here in 7th grade from North Platte. My prom date was the same my Junior and Senior year. I broke my arm sledding, and had to get surgery. Who am I?"

"I love tractor pulling. I'm going to college at Mid-Plains. I have one brother. Who am I?"

"I'm the valadictorian. I have a blue car. I am really talkitive in front of my friends. Who am I?"

"I have one brother and one sister. My mom works in the school. I don't like any fruits or vegetables. Who am I?"

"I have the biggest vehicle out of my class. I do pole vault. I have one sister. Who am I?"

"I was originally from Litchfield. I joined this class in 5th grade. I work at a hotel. Who am I?"

"I write for the school newspaper. My Junior prom date asked me to prom by writing it in candy. I'm going to college in Lincoln. Who am I?"

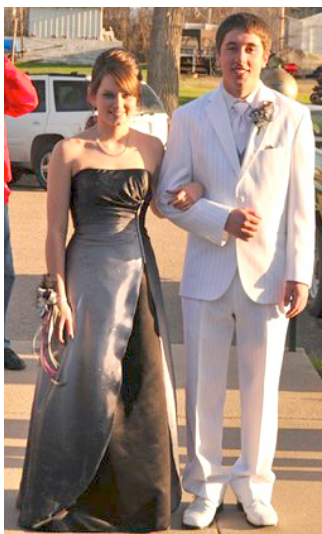

"I'm the oldest in my family. I am a wrestler. I asked my Junior prom date to prom by writing it in candy. Who Am I?"

"I just moved here. I am smiling almost all the time. I'm engaged. Who am I?"

"I have an accent. I hate it when people mimnick me. I have been dating my boyfriend for one year. Who am I?"

PROM

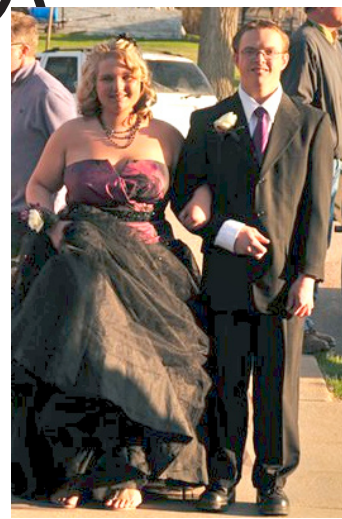

Eamon Schwarz (server) and Mariah Strasburg.

Ryan Moninger (Server) and Stephanie Rogers.

Leah Smith and Justin Donegan

Terry Bellew (server) and Taylor Ellison

Mayra Barraza (server) and Wyatt Egglston.

Hannah Magill (server) and Tanner Cline.

Alex Weinman and Justion Mousel

Jenna Hoesell and Drew Bowers

Haley Jacobson and Charlie Blow-ers

Brady Weinman and Kristina Allen

Sarah Magill and Taylor Linegar.

Chase Schwarz and Alex Frey

Korrie Miller and Dillon Olson

Brandon Peterson and Tricia Ridder

Rachelle Preston and Ian Beshaler

Casandra King and Brent Urbanovsky

Maricela Alvarez, Logan Glendy, and Cindy Nisolle

Kali Blevins and Nathan Kreutzer

Eugene Walker and Lexi Schwarz

Brady Weinman and Eamon Schwarz show off their white legs.

Sarah Magill shows off her skills while dancing with Darcie Kennedy, Brandon Peterson, Ian Beshaler, Wyatt Eggleston, Dayna Larreau, and Casandra King.

Sporting his cowboy hat Justin Mousel hangs out with AJ Henson and Kyle Pierce.

Mariah Strasburg, Alex Weinman, Leah Smith, and Mayra Barraza have a good time while listening to the music.

The Senior Class:

Back Row:Dayna Larreau, Sarah Magill, Kali Blevins, Cindy Nisolle, Korrie Miller, Maricela Alvarez, Middle Row: Brandon Peterson, Brent Urbanovsky, Chase Schwarz, Eugene Walker, Front Row:Casandra King, and Rachelle Preston.

The Junior Class:

Justin Mousel, Taylor Linegar, Haley Jacobson, and Drew Bowers.

Class Of 2011

...Dayna
who is good at art
like...

...Korrie
who is part of the Class of 2011
like...

...Casandra who has blonde hair
like...

...Kali whose birthday is the day after...

...Rachelle who is in speech
like...

...Cindy who is in track like...

...Sarah who likes to run like...

...Maricela who has dark hair
like...

...Brandon who plays football
like...

...David who smiles a lot
like...

...Chase who is tall like...

...Eugene who has glasses
like...

...Brent who likes basketball
like...

American Stereotypes

Learn what Europeans think about you!

By: Cindy Nisolle, Senior

“They all have big cars over there.”
Benjamin Vanslebrouck, friend

“They eat salty things for breakfast! They have a big sport culture and I especially think of the Olympics.”
Guillaume Vaneukem, friend

“When I think to the American schools, I think to halls full of lockers!”
Alicia Schamroth, friend

“Americans are very religious and very patriotic. They also feel the need to express what they think.”
Gilles Andre, friend

“They seem like open-minded people. This is the country of liberty.”
Jonathan Chalon, boyfriend

“They are ahead of us in new technologies.”
Michael Marcoux, dad’s friend

“In America, if you have a very successful life, people won’t look at you with suspicion, but they will show success like an example to follow.”
Anne Frittaion, aunt

How do you imagine the Americans?*

* True thoughts of my family and friends

“They look generous and welcoming.”
Genevieve Louyest, mom of a friend

“They are proud of their country.”
Marina and Etienne Nisolle, parents

“They have a big musical culture. A lot of talents come from that country. Americans are ready for everything to achieve what they want.”
Adeline Duym, friend

“I think of the American dream. The country where everything is possible if you have ideas, ambition, and a bit of chance. We also sometimes think that all the girls look like Britney Spears and that all the black guys are either basketball players or cool rappers.”
Damien DeConinck, friend

“Everything is bigger over there. They also have a bunch of different cookies that look yummy!”
Natacha Bury, friend

“They feel the responsibility to be the “protectors of the world.”
Caroline Lerat, friend

“Americans are businessmen!”
Eline van Lysebeth, friend

Small Country

Big Wonders !

Because Belgium is so small, you can go to the mountains and go hiking in the same day, then go to the beach...

Enjoy the food, from the chocolate to the waffles and passing by the French fries...

Atomium

Have a Trip in Belgium !*

Brussels

Chocolate

Feel like you’re in three countries and speak French, Dutch, and German...

Go see Brussels, Belgium’s capital, but also the well-known capital of Europe...

Waffles

* Cindy’s house will be glad to host you if you bring peanut butter.

Oh that's me!!

Can you guess what little kid story this is?

“When you were three years old, you rolled off the bed and split open your chin on the night stand. You were so brave and didn’t cry when the doctor gave you stitches”

“When you were about six you stole a chicken from the next door neighbor because you thought he wasn’t taking care of it enough so you stored it in the back of your garage.”

“When you were about four years old you saved your little sister by stopping a fence pole from falling on her and you broke your leg in the process”

“When you were 7 you went hunting with your dog. On your way back another dog grabbed your dog and pinned him down by the throat. You took your new favorite gun and hit the dogs head. You saved your dog but you gun was broke. You got a new gun the next day though.”

Answers: Dayna Larreau, Ian Beshaler, Dillon Olson, Eamon Schwarz.

When I first arrived, I took a lot of pictures of my food (I still do it actually) so that the waiters in the restaurants thought a bus of Chinese was eating there.

I will always remember the first time I had Buffalo Chicken wings. It was so hot, I was crying while eating and couldn't finish my dish.

TheDownsides

- Korrie, can you tell me what does a "shovel" mean in English?
- It's a kind of a big spoon.

Before I left, my exchange organization told me what to do if my host parents were late at the airport to pick me up. I thought they said that "just in case" and it's easy to think it'll never happen to you. Boy, I was wrong. My host mom and brother got stuck into the traffic and were not there when I arrived. I started then to remember what my organization told me to do in that case. First, wait thirty minutes before freaking out. Those thirty minutes were the longest of my life; "I am in the middle of the United States without anybody I know." Then, I called my host mom's cell phone and she told me everything was fine and they were just late.

The first time I did the dishes at my host house, I couldn't understand why the water wasn't going out of the sink. Well, with the help of my host dad, we figured that out. I had accidentally stuck an entire plastic cup in the garbage disposal. There is no such thing in Belgium.

Anyway, those downsides of being an exchange student also brings you great laugh with your friends and family and I will never forget those moments.

ofBeingan

By: Cindy Nisolle, Senior

I have never got used to doors that you can lock from inside but still open it. So, I still get sometimes locked outside of my own house.

Exchange Student

At the State speech of Kearney in March, when I asked for mustard with my pretzel instead of cheese, the lady of the concessions stand wasn't sure if I was joking or not. I just don't care about melted cheese!

Thanks to me, Mr. Schwarz and Mr. Jageler signed their first autograph as football coaches on a football I have already sent over to Belgium.

When you are an exchange student and that you eat something the way you do it since you were born, people look at you, thinking "what is she doing?"

I needed seven months here to realize we don't say "to get ready of something" but "to get rid of something." Same thing for pronouncing "idea" and not "idee."

European Gooooodies

Germany!
Kinder chocolate is the best candy for a snack after school in Europe.

Belgium!
To bake yummy dessert, Europeans use the Cote d'Or chocolate.

Italy!
Europeans love put Nutella hazelnut spread on their toast for breakfast.

Follow Me For A Day

By: Cindy Nisolle, Senior

Belgium, Thursday February 18th, 2010

I wake up. The clock says 7:20 a.m. I take a shower, dress up and go downstairs eat breakfast with my dad. My mom is already at work. She is a secretary. My dad asks me what I want on my sandwich for lunch at school and fixes it (I am spoiled).

At 8:10, I am ready to leave and my dad drives me to the school on his way to work. I go meet with my friends in the cafeteria. I give a kiss on the cheek to everybody and say “hi.” We talk together and wait for the bell to ring at 8:40.

The bell goes off. Here we go, the day has started. We begin with two hours of Dutch. We go with the teacher to the language laboratory and we discover that we are having a surprise listening test. Everybody moans.

When the test is done, we go back to our classroom and we correct the homework due today. Then, the teacher asks us to present a conversation in Dutch with a partner. After 20 minutes of preparation, we have to do it before the class. Of course, nobody wants to be the first and the teacher picks someone. At the end of the two periods, she gives us an assignment for tomorrow.

It is 10:20 now and it is time for a break of 20 minutes. We all go outside and I meet with my friends again who had other classes. I eat a snack and drink a carton of juice like kids do.

At 10:40, the bell rings again. Time to go back in class. I go now to P.E. for two hours. All the girls change in the locker room and try to take as much time as possible to waste time. Girls don’t like P.E.

The class starts and the teacher wants us to do gymnastic exercises. The weakest student in P.E. (like me) let the best ones to do the exercises first and hope that the class will be over before their turn.

Ten minutes before the bell rings, at 12:10, the teacher releases us. We run to the locker room to change because the math teacher doesn’t want us to be late.

After I stuffed my things in my sport bag, I finally arrive in class with my messy hair. We have a test that everyone knew about. I take my calculator and all the things I need out of my backpack and start to focus. Of course, I have ten million questions to ask to the teacher about the test.

When I’m done with the test, it is at last time for lunch. The clock says 1:10 p.m. and my belly says “give me food.” So, I take my lunch from my bag and go to the lunchroom to eat with my friends. In the lunchroom, there are sixteen tables and each one is full with 8 students. I start to eat and my friends talk about the math test we just had and about the unfairness of it. The teacher asked us a question that wasn’t in the book. It always happens.

We are done eating after 25 minutes and we keep talking until the bell rings at 2:10. When it is nice outside, we leave the lunchroom earlier to take advantage of the sun outside.

When lunchtime is over, we spread out and go to our class. For me, I have German lesson. I go to our room but don’t hurry too much because the teacher is always late.

When she finally arrives, she starts to teach us the next twenty German irregular verbs on the list of 148 ones we need to know. Then, we study two pages of vocabulary that she asks us to know by heart for the next week. Of course, she will also gives us an assignment for the next day too.

After that period, it is time for religion class. Since I am in a Catholic public school, everybody has to take it. However, it is about to be the end of the day and that class is hard to follow without being distracted. Indeed, the teacher talks all period long.

Finally, at 3:50, the last 50 minutes of school start with science class. We all go to the science laboratory. It is amazing how our science teacher can see from miles away that somebody is chewing gum.

When she is done sending everybody to the trashcan, she teaches us how a vehicle gas motor works. At the end of the period, she gives us an assignment for the next day and tells us that we will have a test on Monday.

The bell rings, it is 4:40. Release, we are dismissed. All the students come from everywhere in the hall and go back home. When I’m lucky, my mom will be parked by the school but, today, as most of the time, she is late from her job. She will try to blame the road traffic on her way back and I won’t buy it.

My mom finally arrives and we drive together to our house. I eat a snack, drink a grenadine, and climb upstairs to start working on my homework. So, the Dutch, German, and science assignments are due tomorrow and I already need to start studying the 20 German irregular verbs and how a gas motor vehicle works, which is 15 pages.

I make up my mind and start to study German first and then, I will come back to it after I am done with my assignments. At 5:40, a friend texts me to ask questions about the science assignment.

It is now 7:00 p.m., My dad comes back from work. He is a computer engineer. We eat together with my mom. Today, she fixed steamed potatoes, lettuce and a steak for supper. My mom talks about her day, my dad listens to her and I make interruptions to say what I want to say such as “did you talk to each other about my idea to be an exchange student in America?”

When we are done eating, I go back to my room and finish my work. At 8:00, I am finally done. I check my schedule to see if I have all the books I need for class tomorrow because we don’t have lockers at school. We need to carry everything we need for the day or to leave it in our class at our own risk. So, tomorrow, I have Spanish, math, German, geography, Dutch, science, French, and math again to finish the day.

I finally put my pajamas on, say goodnight to my parents, and go to bed. I will either read a book or text some of my friends. It is now 10:30, I turn the light off, and I am thinking how it will look like when I will be in America if my parents finally let me go.

Life is
Good

That’s what I believe and it makes me keep going.

CindyNisolle

You didn't know that...

- * I have a phobia about balloons that explode.
- * I don't like to read a book twice even if I really enjoyed it.
- * I don't like milk, chili, beans, and corn.
- * I still did not study anything for my driving license.
- * “The Fast and Furious” and “Tranformers” are my favorite movies.
- * I like going to car races and tuning cars shows.
- * I don't know what is my favorite color.
- * I don't like to smile with my teeth.
- * I am allergic to contact with flour, dogs, cats, birds, and dust.
- * I have seen the Statue of Liberty but still not the Eiffel tower yet.
- * I did not really like peanut butter before I came here.
- * I love giraffes and Snoopy.
- * I always wear earrings or I feel like naked.

Things You Might Not Know About Me

- I love caramel coffee more than any other beverage or food.
- I hate the feel of a greasy dog.
- Channing Tatum is my celebrity crush.
- I hate the colors orange and brown when they are together.
- Sometimes, when I'm bored, I give my little dog rides in my car.
- Selena Gomez music is one of my guilty pleasures.
- I absolutely hate feet.
- Sunny D makes me sick, but I still drink it anyways.
- I love brocolli and cauliflower and will eat them for a snack if they are available.

- After eating too many apples for a few days when I was 16, I now hate the taste of them.
- Pecans make me want to vomit.

- I used to do jumping with my horse Joe for 4-H.
- I've never been on a rollecoaster and avoid huge carnival rides.
- Sometimes I find myself wanting to do math just for fun, and I find that disturbing.
- I have a lopsided knuckle.
- I have never watched Star Wars.
- House is my favorite show on tv.
- I usually hate after proms, but I recently started liking them.
- I have a slight obsession with cleaning things.
- I cannot seem to figure out Spanish.

Who Has The Tattoo?

These tattoos are student tattoos.

Three people in Arnold High School have these.

Guess who they are.

Answers: Dove: Rachelle Preston Love: Korrie Miller King: Casandra King

SAY WHAT??

The most common sayings that has been heard around Arnold School. You can hear one of these at least once a day.

G-Dangit! Nice

Fail!

Oh-Em-Gee

Awesome!

Not Cool

Wow!

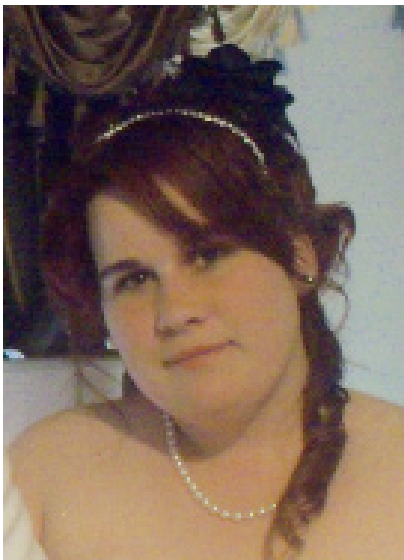

Oh nuts!

Jeez!!

Loser..

What You Don't Know About Me.

1. I hate really spicy food. I just can't stand it.
2. My favorite things are lemonade, hats, BBQ chips, ninja swords (I have two), and Xbox.
3. I check my Horoscope once a week just to see if it's lying to me or not.
4. My favorite music is Rock and Roll.
5. I have gone to over 6 concerts in the past 2 years.
6. If I watch a horror movie I can't sleep at all for that whole night.
7. My favorite car is a Lamborgini. Lime green with black leather interior.
Oh Yeah!
8. When I look at people I put them in the Medeival times clothes just to see how they would look.
- 8.5. Medeival Era is my FAVORITE Era!
9. My favorite animal is the Panther. They are so BA!
10. I love... LOVE Juice! I'm a juiceaholic!
11. I have already designed and 'mentally' built my house how I want it in the future. :)

For Sale!

Green.. or teal? Small car. Perfect condition. Only driven once. Has a small scratch on entire outer body, but don't worry, the unique shape takes your attention away from it. Very spacious inside. Grungy looking inside, great to show off to your girlfriend. Large front seat that is adjustable to give you 5 inches of foot space for the pedal. Great airconditioning, windows let a lot of air in. Even if it doesn't drive 120 like you want, it's a great and safe car you will sure want your kids to drive. Call the owner at 1-308-You've-Been-Ripped-Off.

Price can not be aired in the newspaper as it is way too much for you to handle at one time.

By: Korrie Miller, Senior

Things You Might Not Know About Me

1. I don't like peanut butter.
2. I am rarely not chewing gum.
3. I wish I could be Alice Kingsly.
4. Journalism stresses me out.
5. I drink an entire jug of water everyday.
6. I enjoy classic rock.
7. I sometimes wish I was a burnette.
8. I don't actually like taking pictures at all.
9. The worst physical pain I have ever felt was getting my wisdom teeth out.
10. I have a tattoo.
11. I have never wrecked my car.
12. The smell of squishy things like a squishy ball, or those sticky hand things make me nauseous.
13. I enjoy history.
14. I feel very passionate about government.
15. I love any movie with Will Ferrell in it.
16. Topher Grace is my top celebrity crush.
17. I rarely get on Facebook.
18. The hardest I ever laugh is when I am with my siblings.
19. Sauerkraut is one of my favorite foods.
20. I love watching the History channel and the Discovery channel.

"When the power of Love overcomes the

Love of power, the world will know PEACE."-
Jimi Hendrix

That '70s Show

Think you know everything about
THAT 70's SHOW?

Here are some fun facts about the show and your favorite characters!

~Wilmer Valderrama, otherwise known as Fez is a real foreigner. He moved here from Venezuela with his family when he was 13.

~Fez is not the only foreigner. Mila Kunis, known better as Jackie, is from the Ukraine. She learned English when she moved here with her family at 7, and started the show at 14 years old.

~Leo is played by Tommy Chong, who gained his fame by doing the show "cheech and Chong."

~Ashton Kutcher, who plays Kelso, has a fraternal twin brother, and who was originally named Christopher Ashton Kutcher.

~Don Stark, who plays Donna's dad, Bob, joined his high school drama club on a dare when he discovered his acting talent.