Morgan Chosen As Next Principal

By: Tristan Johnson, Junior

Coming up next school year, we will be welcoming a new principal to our school. Joel Morgan, a teacher and coach at Blue Hill, has accepted the position. He said he is very excited about being Principal at Arnold.

“It will be a wonderful opportunity with new responsibilities. My family and I anxious to meet new people and be part of your community,” he said.

Mr. Morgan grew up on a farm near Campbell, Nebraska, a small town south of Hastings. Campbell is a small town of 400 people, so he is very familiar and feels at home in the small-town life.

“I have always been fond of being part of a small community. I have always felt that small towns and schools are able to provide a lot of opportunities and individual instruction to students that you can’t always find in larger schools.” He said, “I feel Arnold provides excellent opportunities, and that is something I want to be a part of.”

Mr. Morgan graduated from Hildreth High School. He received his Bachelor’s Degree in Elementary Education from Midland Lutheran College and will be receiving his Master’s Degree in Educational Leadership from Doane College this May.

Part of being in a small community is the sense of closeness within the school. “I think it is important to be honest and clearly communicate expectations. I also think it is important for me to get to know each and every one of you[The Students].”

Mr. Morgan and his wife Kelly have been married for five years. They have two sons, Jett (4) and Jeremiah (2). His wife will be the Spanish teacher at Gothenburg High School next year.

He has helped with many activities at Blue Hill. Mr. Morgan is currently the Activities Director and the coach of junior high wrestling. Through the years he has coached softball, volleyball, high school wrestling, junior high basketball, junior high track, and speech. He is in his tenth year of teaching and coaching at Blue Hill Community School. Blue Hill was actually his first job out of college.

In his elementary years, he spent a lot of time helping on the farm and being competitive with his brothers. He spent many nights playing basketball and other games. “In junior high and high school, I loved to compete. It didn’t matter if it was organized sports or a pick up games of basketball, I just loved to play.”

He participated in many activities in high school such as foot-nights of sleep before all tests, and a nutritious breakfast and lunch on test day.

THANK YOU MS. BUOY

Regretfully, Ms. Kari Buoy has submitted her resignation of her Kindergarten teaching assignment to the school board, so we will begin the search for an elementary teacher. We thank Kari for three excellent years of dedication to our students, school, and parents. She will be dearly missed on a personal and professional level. We wish her the best of luck as she embarks on the new challenges in her life!

TRANSFORMING THE GYM

The gym will be taking on a new face this summer, and the transformation has already begun. We recently had new stage house curtains installed, and the floor will be sanded and detailed in South Loup colors and artwork in early June. Finally, we plan to detail the mural on the south wall to reflect the Bobcat co-op. Along with the new lighting installed last summer, it will seem like an entirely new venue.

TRANSFORMING THE TRACK

We are also reconfiguring the layout of the track complex, so there will be excellent views of all the field events. This will be taking place soon, so you may want to stop in during one of the five track meets on the calendar and experience the significant improvements.

NESA EXAMS ON CALENDAR

Check the calendar enclosed in this newsletter to see when your children are scheduled to take NeSA exams. Teachers have given us these dates so you can help your kids be ready, with a couple of good

Rule 10 Compliance Visit

By Dawn Lewis, Principal

On Tuesday morning, March 17, we received visitors from the Nebraska Department of Education. The purpose of their visit was to check for Rule 10 compliance. Rule 10 is the document that contains our regulations and procedures for the accreditation of schools, and can be located at http://www.education.ne.gov/LEGAL/webrulespdf/RULE10\_PLEDGE\_2012.pdf.

Prior to the visit, Mrs. Lewis collected several documents and forwarded them to Rick Moses of NDE. Those documents included our 6-12 schedule of classes, our elementary weekly schedules, and the minutes from our school safety team meeting.

Rick came with Dennis McGuire to go through the compliance checklist and tour our facilities. We were commended on the strength of our curriculum, teaching staff, and assessment scores. We were in compliance in all areas but one. We must make adjustments to our Junior High Physical Education program. While not an uncommon violation for schools of our size (about 1/2 are in the same situation) the state is no longer willing to look the other way in this area. So, we will need to make a change in how PE is offered and how our students prepare for and participate in athletic competitions. Several do-able changes were suggested, and parents of students will be contacted once a firm plan is in place. This will require coordinating with Callaway.

So, out of 60 indicators on the checklist, we are in very good shape on 59. Once again, the pride Arnold takes in their school has shown, and we thank you for continuing to support our students!

4th Grade Sells Pies at Cook-Off

The students and parents who helped all enjoyed celebrating Saint Patricks Day while selling pie by the slice for their fund raiser. They made $292.00 to fund their field trips this spring. They will be going to see the Sandhills Cranes the last week in April, and they are going on an overnight trip to the State 4H Camp at Halsey May 5th and 6th. Thanks for supporting the 4th graders and their field trips.

School Lunch Bills

Reminder to all Parents:

All school lunch bills need to be paid to the office by the last day of school. Please send money with your elementary student.

Junior high and high school students won't be checked out during 8th hour if ALL bills are not paid.

PowerSchool Passwords

As in past years, the school will be using PowerSchool to share student grades with their parents. If you already have the ability to login and check your child's grades, then nothing has changed. Simply login to <https://arnold.powerschool.com/public/>. If you don't have a log in, forgot your password, or would like some help, please contact Nicole Badgley, nbadgley@esu10.org or Penny Allen pallen@esu10.org, or call either of them at the school 308-848-2226.

Youth Writing Festival

By Debby Moninger

Faith Bierman and Sully Lewis represented Arnold Public School at the 2015 Youth Writing Festival in Stuart, NE. The Nebraska Writing Project organized approximately 100 students who attended the northern Nebraska festival from towns such as Kimball, North Platte, McCook, Valentine, Arnold, and several other towns.

Several of the writers were returning participants. The goal of the writing festival is to give students an opportunity to hone their writing skills in a collaborative setting and to build a community with fellow student writers.

Faith Bierman remarked on the way home that she would like to go again next year, and thinks it would be fun to take a group of friends to experience it with her.

The festival started with a choice of three morning sessions that allowed participants to explore elements of creative writing. The youth chose from these sessions based on personal interest:

- “The Most Important C’s of Story”- Writing by Melissa Pilakowski: What do Katniss and Macbeth have in common? Other than some sick bow and arrow skills, they’re deep characters. They’re heroic at some points, but at other times, certainly not people I’d like to emulate. However, stories thirst for imperfect characters such as Katniss and Macbeth to keep readers turning the pages. This session delved into some ways to get to know your characters better and conjure up more conflict for them to fend off.
- “The Name Game” by Jan

Knispel: Shakespeare asked, “What’s in a name?” Considering names and making up new names can add sparkle and novelty by using art and music to generate names for poetry and prose.

- “Picture This” by Kendra Vanderbeek: Activate your senses to create poetry or prose using sensory details to enhance imagery.

- “Double Takes - Perspectives in Writing” by Brian Mohr: As writers, we bring our own perspective to any subject based on previous experiences, person demographics, and individual attitudes. Even in fiction, the narrator’s perspective shapes the narrative.

- “Tactile Exploration” by Brenda Larabee: As one of the least explored senses in writing, touch can be extremely powerful, not only by way of description, but also a launching point for other ideas.

Each of the sessions we attended (The Most Important C’s, Picture This, and Double Takes) provided participants with an opportunity to practice the writing strategies discussed.

After lunch, participants went on a writing marathon. Small groups traveled to nearby locations pausing to write and then sharing their writing after a designated time. Some of the writing locations included: Stuart Raceway, community theater, the White Horse Ranch Museum, the rodeo arena, the chapel at the nursing home, and several other stops.

“As I walked around and looked for things to write about, I look at things that are also in my community that I have taken for granted. Those old cars and buildings are in our town and they represent what we have in life, and what we should be thankful for,” said Faith Bierman.

As my group walked to the writing destinations, the possible settings and characters flowed and often took on a life of their own.

After the writing marathon, students returned to submit writings for the anthology. To check out the anthology, go to <http://newpyouth-writingfestival.wordpress.com/>

Elementary Soccer League Beginning

By Debby Moninger

Spring is in the air and soccer season has arrived. Arnold's Rotary club is purchasing t-shirts and providing goals for a youth soccer club in Arnold.

Last year, Kari Buoy and Katie Blowers organized the league. For some reason, they are slightly busy this year (childbirth does that). They have given their notes to the NJHS members and are helping behind the scenes as the NJHS members organize the 2015 league.

A big thank you to Esther Ryan who will be hosting the soccer clinic to teach rules, the basic skills of soccer, and some drills to prepare the teams for games.

All practices and games will be in Arnold. The NJHS members will help parent coaches, referee, prepare the field, and mentor players. Depending on feedback, the NJHS members hope to make this an annual service project to provide consistency to Arnold's youth soccer.

Teams will be divided to create fair playing levels with 2 -- K-2nd grade teams and 2 -- 3rd-5th grade teams.

All 4 games are held at Old Mill Park in Arnold. The K-2 games are at 5:30 and run 25 minutes. The 3-5 games are at 6:00 and are 40 minutes (two 20 minute halves, 10 minute half time).

- April 7th – The soccer clinic will be at Old Mill Park (the baseball field). After the clinic, coaches will organize team practices. Shin guards are required at all practices and games.
- Monday, April 13th Break for

- coaches to focus on practice.
- Monday, April 20th Break for NJHS induction ceremony
- Monday, April 27th Game
- Monday, May 4th Game
- Monday, May 11th Final game and short soccer celebration with Rotary Members

The sub-committee chairs:

- Avery organize teams, NJHS helpers, and coaches;
- Madison help with coach's packet;
- Jace organize refs and set up field;
- Tatum plan end of season celebration;
- Toni design and order t-shirts; Lydia official photographer (team pictures and action shots).
- All NJHS member will help with the league - 3 officials, 5 team helpers, 1 official
- All 9 helping with the soccer clinic on April 7th.

Pi Day

By: Bailey Schwarz, 6th grader

Mr. Lewis thought it would be fun to celebrate Pi Day. Mr. Lewis said his teacher celebrated Pi day when he was in school and thought it would be fun to do with this year's celebration.

He introduced the topic of Pi and how it correlated to the date coming up as part of the math lesson.

If every sixth grade student brought two pies, then they could feed the whole school pie.

"First we planned to feed just the fifth graders, junior high students, and the teachers. Then we realized how much pie we really had, and decided we could feed the high school students too, said Kylee Lehmkuhler.

There was a huge variety of pies and it gave us a good feeling to make everyone happy. Easy as Pi!

Entire Arnold High School Attends First-Ever Job Fair in Broken Bow

By: Nicole Badgley and Julie Mohr

On Thursday, February 26th, the Arnold High School students went to Broken Bow for the Central Nebraska Job Fair. The Headline Sponsors were Adams Land & Cattle, Becton Dickinson, and Thomas Livestock Company.

The fair was held out at the One Box Convention Center, and the businesses were set up with real job applications. The students had a unique opportunity to learn about the high number of jobs that are available in the county and the companies that are searching for the employees. Some of the students took applications in hopes they might be finding jobs and internships in the near future.

Brandon Moninger, Dayne Kulp, and Merrit Eastman spoke with Myers Construction, and they offered to let the boys come out to a job site and see what it is really like.

"I would have given the kids a better shot at getting the jobs than some of the adults who were coming in as we left," said Mrs. Mohr, instructor.

The Broken Bow Chamber of Commerce, along with the Custer County Economic Development Committee and the CAPABLE organization, set up this job fair for the area students and adults. The students were able to go through the job fair beginning at 1:30, and the adults were to begin at 3 p.m.

However, when it came time for the students to board the bus, they weren't ready to go and wanted to stay and interact more with the businesses. "The kids weren't checking their watches, or waiting to leave.

They were engaged and learning the entire time," said Mr. Mohr.

After students went through the job fair, Stephanie

Miller, the human relations department of Adams Land and Cattle, spoke with the students about protection from social media in a break out session. "I will look at your resume for 15 seconds and then spend my time looking you up on social media."

"I was impressed at Palmer that I liked learning about all the little secrets about interviewing and resumes. The mock interviews were great," said Brooke

One of the break-out sessions for the student was about the dos and don'ts of social networking and finding a good job.

Blowers.

Other suggestions from her speech included better email addresses, hand shakes, interviewing techniques, speed of speech, how she uses silence to get the interviewee to break the silence and start the discussion.

The organizers said that what they offered to the students (the classes about resumes and interviews) and the job fair was the same thing that was offered to the adults.

"Two of my favorite things from (the fair) was looking at how another business similar to ours (SHGP) runs. Another would be the speech about the resume," said Haley Reed.

As an extra added bonus, the students were also invited by Palmer Monument to visit in the morning. They got to see the process of how headstones were made. They got to meet the graphic artist for the company. Ashton Weinman enjoyed learning that he free-hand sketched for the monuments as well as turning photos into the etchings. They also watched the sandblaster in action.

"I was impressed at Palmer that they were not afraid to tell us that they made mistakes," said Dillon Brown. "You can tell they are a very good company because most of the people have been there for a long time."

The students were buzzing when they came back about what a great experience they had throughout the day. Many of them learned a lot that they can bring back to the school-based business, School House Graphic Products.

"I would like to be able to use the software that Palmer does so our employees can expand their knowledge of the workplace," said Jasmine Nelson.

Most of the businesses had some form of emphasis on safety. It is easy to go lax and

"we need to make sure we are still being safe," said Dillon Brown.

Several students made comments about being efficient. "If everyone had the knowledge to know how to run at least two of the machines, then we could be more efficient when people are gone," said Brooke Blowers.

Brooke Blowers and Ashton Weinman talked with Adams Land and Cattle. Brooke took some information to possibly apply for an internship with their company.

Dvorak Wins Elks Americanism Essay Contest

Kacee Dvorak recently won second place the Broken Bow Elks Lodge 1688 Americanism essay contest. The theme for the contest was "What the Pledge of Allegiance Means to Me."

Dave Patterson, chairman of the Americanism essay contest, contacted Nicole Badgley the 6th grade writing teacher about Kacee's outstanding essay. She won $75.00 or her second place essay.

Kacee, her parents Rich and Kristi, and her teacher will be invited to the Elks Lodge on a Sunday in April to celebrate her win, read her essay, and to receive her prize. The date has not yet been set for the event. Patterson will contact Kacee and Mrs. Badgley as the date draws near.

This contest is sent out to regional schools across the county and extends into neighboring counties that don't have an Elks club. There were 88 essays written by 6th grade students. The top two essays were sent on to the national competition last week.

The essay was to be less than 250 words and it is included below:

It was an ordinary morning at school. The bell rang; I got to my English class. I'm standing there talking when I hear, "Please stand for the Pledge." I get up and put my hand over my heart and start to say the pledge....

How many people actually THINK about the Pledge of Allegiance when they say it? Do they actually think about what the words mean?

When I hear and say the pledge, I think about all the sons and daughters that have lost their lives in battle. I also think about the current soldiers that are fighting. When we put our hands over our hearts, we're making a promise to our country. When my class and I were in kindergarten, we learned how to say the Pledge. But, we didn't know the meaning of the words. In 4th grade we learned how to say the Pledge again. We got taught how to say the Pledge with all the pauses done correct. But I still didn't know the meaning of the words.

It wasn't until this year that I knew what the words meant. I think the Pledge means...

I promise to be loyal to the leaders of the United States of America, and to the people who vote, for which it stands, one nation (50 states) under religious freedom, unable to separate, with freedom and fairness under the law for all.

A Study of the Iditarod

By: Gracie Neth, Third Grader

Upper elementary students learned more about the Iditarod by Skyping with Mrs.Cerney. Mrs.Cerney lives in Hot Springs, South Dakota. She is on of Mr. and Mrs. Neth's friends. Mrs. Cerney used to live and teach in Alaska.

The Iditarod is done in memory of when the little town of Nome didn't have medicine. In 1925, many people were sick in this little town of Nome. Some men in Anchorage decided to form a relay team to bring medicine to this small town. In 1973, the Iditarod was started and it begins every year on the first Saturday in March.

3rd grade is studying the Iditarod because in reading, the students are reading a story about the Iditarod. Soon. Mrs. Neth hung up a map of the trail. Some student were fascinated, they wanted to be in the Iditarod themselves!

There are some important people we need to talk about now. The first woman to win the Iditarod was Libby Riddles. She won in 1985. The weather was so bad they had to stop the race twice! Susan Butcher was the second woman to win the Iditarod. One year, moose attacked her lead dog. Those poor, poor dogs died. After that, she dropped out of the race. She competed in the Iditarod sixteen more times. Once, she won third place. Four times she won second place. Four times she won first place! The governor of Alaska thought she was so important they made a holiday in honor of her! This year Susan Butcher Day is on March seventh!

This year, Dallas Seavey won the Iditarod. He finished March 18, 2015. He made it to Nome in 8 days, 18 hours, 13 minutes, and 6 seconds.

Each of the students drew out names for a musher to cheer for, and I happened to draw out Seavey's name!

South Loup Boys Vs. Twin Loup

First Round Sub Districts

On February 24 the South Loup Bobcats played the Twin Loup Wolves in the first round of the sub-district games. In the first quarter, we came out confident and beat them in the first quarter 21 to 10. Then in the second, we outscored them again 23 to 14 bringing the halftime score 44-24. In the third quarter, the second string players came in and still outscored them 13-10. Finally, in the fourth, they outscored us 14 to 7 bringing the final score 64-48. W

South Loup Boys Vs. Ansley-Litchfield

Second Round Sub Districts

On February 24th, the South Loup Bobcats played the Ansley-Litchfield Spartans in the second round of the sub-district games. In the first quarter, we came out pretty strong and played strong the whole game. The two big boys from Ansley-Litchfield were tough to get a body on. They were tall and they could jump out of the gym. The score was very close throughout the whole game until about 5 minutes into the 4th quarter and we were ahead by 7 thinking we had it in the bag. Then they got on a little run and tied the game with a last second shot to send it into overtime. In overtime it was a battle. They hit a three with three seconds left to win by one. Final score 50-51 L.

Sub District Finals

On February 19th, the Lady Bobcats travelled to Burwell again for sub districts, this time looking to advance to District Finals. In this match they played Central Valley. The Bobcats won, with the final score being 48 to 29. The girls were shooting 30% from the three point line. Bobcats had 39 rebounds, eight deflections, 12 steals, and seven blocks. The Bobcats will now advance to District Finals against St. Mary's. This is the first time since Arnold and Callaway combined that they have advanced. The last time the girls have advanced was 2002.

Youth Leadership

By: Madison Reed, Sophomore

On Tuesday, March 3rd, Mrs. Meyer took five high school students to a youth leadership conference. The leadership conference was held at the Community College in Broken Bow.

The students were to learn how to be better leaders in their communities. This group will meet four times a year. They also have one in April.

At this meeting, groups of people did a maze, a mock trial, they visited the courthouse, and got a tour of the legislative building.

“YLCC is a great experience in which I am learning the importance of standing up and leading in my community,” said junior Tristan Johnson.

“ALADDIN’S CAVE” AFTER PROM 2015

Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomore servers, and their dates can look forward to finding treasures and a great time at “Aladdin’s Cave” after prom event.

• After-prom is located at the Arnold Community Center on Saturday, April 18th following prom.

• There won't be any belly dancing or snake charming, but “Bubble Boyz Soccer” will be sponsoring several rounds of bubble soccer that students can enjoy with a signed permission slip from parents.

• The students can take a carpet ride to unwind during a movie at the Rialto Theater.

• End the night with treasures found and good memories made at the 2015 Aladdin’s Cave after prom function!

Roosevelt Relived

By: Tristan Johnson, Junior

He was a runner-up boxing champion at Harvard. He got elected the head of the Navy. He was... a United States president? On March 6th, Darrel Draper, an edu-tainer, came and spoke about the life of Theodore Roosevelt. He was dressed in traditional costume and portrayed himself as Theodore Roosevelt.

There are many things about Theodore Roosevelt that may people do not know. Some of them including that Theodore used to be a rancher, he was the second-youngest governor of New York, and he signed the Panama Canal Treaty.

Theodore did not only run for president himself, but he campaigned for Benjamin Harris's presidency as well. With his manly image, Harris hoped to gain Western votes.

Visiting the fourth grade, Darell Draper educated the students on how to do a first-person reenactment of a historical character. There are many things that go into that. Some of the preparations include research, writing and memorizing a script, and costuming. It takes a lot of time to fully become your character.

Draper also spoke to the 7th and 11th grade classes about the poetry of Elizabeth Barrett Browning and shared a few poems from his own published collection.

Darrell Draper travels to many places around the state educating students on different historical people. Two years ago he came to school and performed as Peter Sarpy. This year the school was happy to have him back. After this year, Darrel Draper is retiring. We would like to thank him for providing so much entertainment and education to our students.

Random Knowledge Pays Off For Quiz Bowlers

The JH Quiz Bowlers in Stapleton where they won second place: Jadeyn Bubak, Anthony Olson, Logan Coleman, Leighton Bubak, Cole Gracey and Jarret Buchholz.

By: Debby Moninger, Quiz Bowl Sponsor

"The thing I enjoy most about quiz bowl is that it is both a team and an individual competition. Even though you compete as a team, a whole game can change based on the random knowledge of one person." - Chris Steele

Arnold's quiz bowl teams definitely learns to work together as a team while shining individually. Whether you're the team member with the most knowledge or the one who specializes in specific areas, the team works together to face teams from other schools.

The ESU 16 meet, our biggest, had 32 different schools participating of various class sizes. The high school team consisted of "the core four" of quiz bowl veterans — Claire Beshaler, Trevor Halstead, Racheal Smith, and Grace Magill — as well as a rotating group of new participants — Brooke Blowers, Wei Qin Chua, Sully Lewis, Tristan Johnson, Jasmine Nelson, and Ashton Weinman. Their best meet was probably the MNAC event at Halsey National Forest.

The junior high team consists of students in 6th through 8th grades including Leighton Bubak, Logan junior high and high school section. When I got the information from Stapleton, they asked for the members and their grades competing from both teams.

Naturally, I submitted both teams. The junior high members who competed were Leighton Bubak (captain), Logan Coleman, Jarret Bucholtz, Cole Gracey, Anthony Olson, and Jayden Bubak. It wasn't until we got there that I realized they were referring to two high school teams. Not only did the junior high team compete with the tougher high school questions, they earned 2nd place at the meet. In fact, the one question about the industrial revolution ended up being the difference between 1st and 2nd place teams. They knew the answer, but thought it was too simple so didn't buzz in. It's looking like we'll have a good team for years to come.

Chris Steele's observation about the importance of random knowledge definitely sets the tone for a successful quiz bowl season. The 2015 teams have participated in several meets, each meet organized to present a different challenge. The range of questions is limitless, (Quiz Bowl continued .....

SPEECH

Arnold had 8 students out for Speech this year. To know more about the different kind of things you can enter in Speech, here will be what Arnold students participated in and what it is about.

OID: Is when 3-5 students act out a skit with a timing of 10-15 minutes long.

Extemp: You draw three topics and choose one. They are on global and national current events. You can only use the resources you have with you (magazines, downloaded news onto the computer, etc.) to write a 5-7 minute speech in half an hour. You cannot use internet to look up answers. Important things to do in the speech is to state your point, prove it, and try to have at least three sources. You can use only one notecard.

Serious Pro's: You take any serious (not necessarily sad) from a book or poem, etc. and you perform it with real emotions.

Jasmine Nelson, Jennifer Barraza, Ashton Weinman, and Wei Qin Chua entered in an OID together. Grace Magill, Bobbi Barnes, and Claire Beshaler entered in an OID together also.

Tristan Johnson entered in Extemp and placed at two Speech meets this year. He medaled First at the Sargent Speech Meet and Fourth at Conference. "Extemp is always interesting because of the constant challenge in addressing a wide variety of topics with limited sources." Said, Tristan Johnson.

Jasmine Nelson entered in Serious Pro's. "I love that there's so many different varieties to it so you can never get bored." Said, Jasmine Nelson.

The Surprise of "Bikes and Trykes"

By: Jasmine Nelson, Sophomore

On March 6, 2015, the students were asked to attend a short assembly over the lunch hour. "What was that assembly for?" asked many students. They didn't know what to expect.

When the students were in the room, they were greeted by Mary Ross & Alex Streit, whom most know is autistic. In front of them was a big, red, custom bike.

Mary then explained that the bike was granted to Alex and Mikey Smith, another child with disabilities in the town. IT was funded through the Bikes and Trykes of Central Nebraska Foundation with the chapter being from Grand island. BATCN is a non-profit organization consisting of a diverse group of men and women who are dedicated to creating mobility and independence for people with disabilities.

How this works is that someone will apply for a grant (in this case it was Mary Ross), and then they gather funds from all types of people and organizations since each bike costs anywhere from $800-$1500. Mary happened to send in an application for both Mikey and Alex to receive one back in June 2014, and their wish was fulfilled.

As the day came, both boys' custom bike bar, they were both ecstatic. Even when Alex was told he was going "too fast," his expression was priceless.

Like many other kids around Nebraska, Mikey and Alex suffer from disabilities that many disable them from doing things such as riding bikes around. With this program, it is easier for the children to do what they want and be safe to please the parents. This program is a fantastic opportunity for everyone involved.

Hoops For Hearts

By: Madison Reed, Freshmen
Mr. Cole started the Hoops for Heart foundation about eight years ago in our school. The Hoops for Heart has been up and running for about 20 years now. This year in the fundraiser we had five classes working to raise money: Kindergarten, First grade, Second grade, Fifth grade, and Sixth grade. These classes started in February and had three weeks to raise as much money as they could. Together, they raised $2,247 an all time high for Arnold Elementary. Sam Cool raised the most money, bringing in $266. Each grade has been doing a basketball section while raising money, K-2 have been working on the basic basketball skills (dribbling, passing, form shooting), while 5-6 shot hoops almost everyday. Depending on how much money you raised, you would get a Hoops for Heart T-shirt, basketball, or a rubber duck.

but they tend to focus on geography, literature, science, math, sports, and liberal arts.

There's not a sure-fire way to study, but you can take steps to improve your knowledge of trivia — watch Jeopardy, go on a random knowledge quest by reading National Geographic, Ripley's Believe It or Not, or debate about interesting events in history. The main object involves truly applying information that you learn to new areas...and having the confidence in your knowledge to take a chance on the questions.

I have to admit. It's easier to recall a lot more of the answers from the audience than at the front of the room with everyone staring and the
