By: Kenna Rogers, APS Senior

Our South Loup Thespians dominated Conference, November 21, 2019. They took the stage with their whole heart, and it really showed. The Arnold actors pulled through and won the MNAC, with Callaway in second.

actor.

With the plays that the two teams have brought to life, I'm sure it was difficult to pick the best actress and actor.

Callaway has strong ensemble that makes you feel all the emotions that they feel as they battle back of Notre Dame. That being said, the four that won the title truly deserved it with their amazing performance on Thursday.

The one-act teams will start preparing for Districts, which will take place December 2nd. Both teams have a shot at making it

The Arnold and Callaway teams swept the acting awards. Callaway actors Jade Evans and Dalton Kunkee were awarded runner-up best actress and actor. Arnold actors Landyn Cole and Colbi Smith were awarded best actress and best

The Arnold thespians have many great actors. Such as Quasi and Frolo, Esmeralda and Phoebe, the gargoyles, and all the gypsies that come together to welcome you into the world of the Hunch-

School-wide catapult competition brings a day fun for all students

By: Colbi Smith, Sophomore

On Wednesday, November 6th, K-12 students all participated in a school-wide catapult building competition. The students in each grade were separated into groups of either two or three, and they worked together to try and build the best catapult possible. Even though students worked in groups to build their catapults, they competed in the competition as individuals and shared the catapult with the other students in their build group. Other than a few elementary classes who decided to work together.

All of the teams were given a specified amount of materials to build their catapult with. K-5, 6-10, and 11-12 all got different materials.

Students first competed against others in their class to name a classroom winner. After the classroom winner was named, the winners then competed against other classroom champions in another bracket. These brackets consisted of the lower elementary (K-2), upper elementary (3-5), junior high (6-8), and high school (9-10)

To conclude the day, all of the winners of the lower elementary, upper elementary, junior high, underclassmen, and upperclassmen brackets competed to crown the school-wide champion.

Ag Safety Day

By: Jace Connell, APS Senior

On September 18th the 6th graders took a field trip to the Stapleton fair grounds where they learned about agriculture safety from 9 am to noon.

The day consisted of stations that the kids rotated through learning about different safety measures that should be taken while operating different machinery and working in the agricultural field.

The APS 6th graders got to spray a fire hose, reach inside of a cow, learn about the importance of wearing a seatbelt, learn about PTO safety with tractors, and safety when inside a grain bin.

Paxton Bierman said that his favorite part of the Ag trip was “Getting to shoot the swivel hose on top of the fire truck.” He said that it was fun for him because he got to be high in the air and shoot the water.

Jamie Lamphear learned an important lesson about the importance of grain bin safety. She was blown back by the fact “That it takes 20 seconds to get completely covered in a grain bin.”

Red Ribbon Week

By: Carly Gracey APS Sophomore

The elementary of Arnold Public Schools, again, participated in Red Ribbon Week. This week is an alcohol, tobacco, and other drug and violence prevention awareness campaign. It's observed annually in October in the United States. For APS, it was held on the 21st-25th.

For the whole week, the elementary kids are able to dress up for the days provided for them. For APS, these days were; Monday, follow your dreams, don't do drugs (pajama day). Tuesday, drugs are a hair-raising experience (crazy hair day). Wednesday, drugs will change you (opposite day). Thursday, be on a drug free team (Bobcat spirit). Friday, show your true colors and don't do drugs (color war).

The elementary had an outstanding and fun week being able to dress up for all those days. The staff also participated in dressing up as well.

ALC Visits Third Grade

How lucky are we to live in such a progressive and educational community. But other communities that share our same ambition also surround us. This sure comes in handy when our third grade teacher, Mrs. Neth, asks Adams Land and Cattle (ALC) to come speak to her third graders about their business and cows.

Adams Land and Cattle made their way to third grade with some fun activities to interact with the class at the end of October this year.

The day started off with a fun power point that shared some fun little facts about their company and agriculture. For example, did you know that one cowhide can make 144 base balls? Or that ALC owns a total of 130,000 steers? Well our third graders do now.

The power point also explained the different types of meat from the cuts of a cow. Also what they ALC feed their cows.

When asked what he remembered, Jett Morgan said, "Cows can make 20 footballs."

"There are tons of types of cows," Said Ryker Atkins.

Another fun activity was that they brought different types of cereal and used them to demonstrate different types of cattle feed. The third graders got to make a trail mix to see the different types of feeds that cows eat. They also got a lunch box with beef jerky in it.

"I think it's a really good connect between the surrounding community and what the kids could do in the future," says Neth. "It's also a good connection between the classroom and what some of the students parents do now."

Neth also felt that it was exciting to see the students that have an agriculture background know certain things. Such as, why ranchers

The third graders had a fun time learning more about the Agricultural business. They will continue their education on Adams Land and Cattle in the spring.

Book Fair Results

By: Jace Connell, APS Senior

This year's book fair had an exciting outcome as Mrs. Debby Moninger said "This was the highest book fairs sales since I have started." Mrs. Moninger helps run the book fair. The book fair raised almost $2,000 this year.

The fair is staged both in the library of the school and in the hallway near the elementary. When asked what got the best outcome out of the two locations, Mrs. Moninger said, "There were more parents that went to the elementary location." This resulted in more sales at the elementary by both student and parents. The Junior Honor Society puts on the elementary book fair.

The book fair is not only for students and parents but it is also for teachers. Many teachers buy books for their personal libraries in their classrooms or they buy books for themselves.

Mrs. Moninger and the Junior Honor Society hope that the trend of increasing results in the book fair continues.

Preventing Disaster

By: Jace Connell, APS Senior

On Wednesday October 9th, the elementary students participated in Fire Prevention Day. This activity provided children with the knowledge they need to prevent fire in their homes and their world around them.

The kids learned the importance of fire safety, how to prevent fire, how to escape from a fire, what it takes to fight fire, and the destruction that a fire can cause.

The K-5th graders got a special surprise this year for fire prevention day as a helicopter was brought in to teach the kids about helicopters are used to save people and fight fire. Tyson Schacher, a 4th grader, said, "My favorite part about the whole fire prevention day was getting to see the helicopter."

Making A Difference

Senior Class Organizes Blood Drive

By: Landyn Cole, APS Junior

On Monday, November 18th, the Arnold Community Center was filled with people graciously donating their blood to make a positive impact. The American Red Cross was in town for a blood drive, thanks to the APS senior class, who organized the event. Multiple members of the Junior class volunteered their time to help on the day of the blood drive, doing everything from checking people in to serving donors a delicious lunch.

In total, 36 people donated, with 4 donors completing a double red donation. This added up to 35 units of blood. Six APS students donated for the first time.

"Amanda Koubek approached me about an opportunity for the senior class organizing a blood drive for scholarship opportunities," said Mrs. Nansel.

The scholarship amount depended on the units of blood collected. Because 35 units were collected, the scholarship amount is $250. The senior class will put on two more blood drives this school year. The next blood drive will be January 20, 2020, at the Community Center. If you are interested in donating food for the canteen, you can call Amanda Koubek at 308-660-6709.

"We were excited to do this because we wanted to help people in need," said Senior Grant Jones.

a very good way.

During that game Jadeyn Bubak had 10 hitting kills. Bubak also had 16 successful digs. Calyn Laible came in second with 14 digs. Mya Weverka ended the night with 21 setting assists. Jessie Sallach had 21 successful serve receives and Laible came in second with 20.

School House Graphic Products Teams Up with Joe Shown

By: Landyn Cole, APS Junior

Joe Shown and School House Graphic Products have been working together for years. In the recent months, however, SHGP has been mass producing a new piece for Shown's dog kennels.

"Shown is innovative and his kennels are continuously improving," said co-teacher Mr. Mohr.

The new piece is a liner for the door of the kennel, and it is made by the CNC, or computer numerical control machine.

The SHGP and photography class, with the help of Mr. Neth, have teamed up for this project.

The photography students took wonderful product shots of the kennels for Shown's website.

"The boys moved the equipment and kennels around, while the girls positioned the dog, and Shayla Tickle snapped pictures," said Mr. Neth.

This project goes to show that Arnold Public Schools has the ability to both make products and photograph them. The students have worked extremely hard to make this project successful, and have done a wonderful job executing a world of manufacturing.

What to expect after you submit your FAFSA

The FAFSA opened October 1, so many of you have already completed and submitted your form. Here’s what happens next:

Expect a Student Aid Report (SAR). You’ll receive it via an email link if you provided an email address on your FAFSA. The SAR acknowledges that your FAFSA was received and lets you know if you need to take further action to process your FAFSA.

Make sure you applied for admission to colleges you listed on your FAFSA. Colleges that receive your FAFSA results typically won’t send you a financial aid package until you’ve applied and have been accepted to the school.

Watch for verification requests. The college(s) you listed on your FAFSA might request verification of your FAFSA information. If so, send the required documents to the colleges’ financial aid office.

Watch for financial aid award notifications. The colleges you were accepted to – and listed on your FAFSA – will send you financial aid award notifications detailing the types and amounts of aid they’re offering based on your financial need.

This EducationQuest Blog article has more details about what happens after you submit your FAFSA.

Haven’t completed your FAFSA yet? No problem! You and a parent can complete the form at FAFSA.gov. Before you start, create an FSA ID for you and one for a parent at fsaid.ed.gov. You’ll need them to access and sign the form.

For free help with the FAFSA, watch these FAFSA Demo videos, use our free FAFSA Tools, or call EducationQuest to make an appointment:

Winning the scholarship game
Follow these tips to increase your chances of earning scholarships:

Don’t ever pay for scholarship searches! Use free resources such as ScholarshipQuest at EducationQuest.org with over 2,000 Nebraska-based scholarships, or free national sites like Cappex, GoodCall, and Chegg.

Visit your school counselor often for information about local scholarships.

Focus on local and college-specific scholarships because you’re more likely to earn them.

Update your activities, honors, community service or paid jobs using the Activities Resume at EducationQuest.org.

Earn the best possible ACT/SAT scores by taking the exam(s) in the spring of your junior year and again in the fall of your senior year.

Use quality references such as a teacher, coach, or counselor. Encourage them to write specific examples of your leadership skills. Give them a specific deadline, and a copy of your Activities Resume.

Tailor your essay to the scholarship. Ask an English teacher to read your essay and offer advice on making a big impact. Your essay will need to stand out from other applications.

From the Superintendent: Times Fun When You’re Having

It’s That Time of Year Again

I like Hallmark Christmas movies. There – I said it out loud. Well, I actually didn’t say it out loud, but I typed it so you can read it, and that’s nearly the same. Either way, you now know something about me that I wouldn’t ordinarily broadcast.

“You like Hallmark movies?” some may ask. But they’re so predictable! Yep. Well, . . . so many of them are basically the same plot line with a few details changed. Right again. But . . . you can tell within the first 10 minutes of the movie who will wind up together by movie’s end. Another correct statement. They can be “sappy.” Your point?

So why do I like such movies? In short, if I’m going to spend an hour and a half or two hours of my life watching a movie, I want to laugh. I want to feel happy when it’s over. (Once in a while, I may even notice my eyeballs “sweating” during a particularly moving part.) You may have noticed, but Hallmark movies nearly always seem to have a happy ending. Yes, that is correct – I like happy endings. Maybe it’s partially due to when I grew up, but until I was about 10 years old, movies were required to have happy endings (due to something known as the Hays Code).

I’m sure I didn’t think of it in these terms at the time, but that may be part of why I went into education. After a few years of working in the telecommunications industry, I wanted to be able to help make more of a difference than just being sure someone’s telephone was working.

In the field of education, we have an opportunity to help create “happy endings” for students. It is a tremendous joy to talk with former students who have become successful in their chosen fields. Mechanics, electricians, doctors, lawyers, auctioneers, school superintendents, and the list goes on.

Regardless of the career choice, it is rewarding to have had even a very small part in helping someone achieve their dreams. We have a great group of students at Arnold Public Schools! I will look forward to talking to them in the future and hearing of their successes and dreams they have achieved.

Meanwhile, Thanksgiving is almost here. Would somebody please pass me the popcorn?

Doing Our Part

The 9th graders of the National Junior Honor Society at Arnold Public Schools have been giving out recycling baskets to all the high school and elementary classrooms. Every Friday, they gather up all of the paper, plastic, and aluminum from the baskets and take them down to the town recycling bins.

So far this year, there has been 536 pounds of paper, 28 pounds of plastics, and 11.4 pounds of aluminum that have been recycled.

An area that the 9th graders are trying to improve with recycling is the plastics. So if you have any plastic bottles, milk jugs, etc., you can send them to school with your child and have them recycled. It would be much appreciated!

If you've ever seen the incredibly popular 1994 sitcom, Friends, you will understand that the titles of my columns mimick the episode titles of the show.

Anybody who knows me is already aware that I'm slightly obsessed with the show Friends.

I have watched the show, which consists of 236 episodes over a span of 10 seasons, 5 times through. In other words, I have watched 1,180 episodes of the show, not including the episodes I've watched at my friends' houses.

I'll be the first to admit that this show isn't for everybody. The characters are wacky and the plot is seen by some as pointless.

I, however, fell in love with the T.V. series because of the beautiful bond the six main characters have.

The characters have a friendship that has lasted through thick and thin: Ross's many divorces, all the breakups, and even the birth of a child.

After watching the show an absurd amount of times, I realized how incredible it would be to have a friend group that cared for each other as much as the characters on Friends did.

Fortunately for me, at the start of my junior year, I discovered my friend group.

My friends are the most important thing to me. They came into my life when I needed them the most, and they decided to stick around.

Now, my three best friends and I do everything together. It is with them that I feel most comfortable to be myself.

We're a pretty predictable friend group. Every day at least one cringey joke will be said, at least one mental breakdown will be had, and at least one group hug will ensue.

They are most definitely my favorite humans. "Boyfriends and girlfriends will come and go, but this is for life," said Phoebe (S7:E11).

Me and my three buddies, while drastically different from one another, are similar to the six friends on the TV show.

Our diverse personalities are nice at times, but it proves making a decision very difficult. If you ask advice, you can be sure one friend will say, "Just do it" while another will say, "Oh my gosh why would you even think of do that?"

One of the best parts of Friends is watching and comparing you and your friends to the characters. I think anyone who's watched the show sees a part of themselves in at least one of the characters. In a way, we are all a combination of the Friends characters.

In my friend group, Reagan has Chandler's sense of humor and Ross's brains. Faith has Rachel's good looks, Joey's dedication to his friends, and Phoebe's kind heart. Shayla has Joey's care-free attitude and Rachel's easy going personality that makes her easy to talk to. I share Joey's love for food and Phoebe's love for animals, along with Monica's slightly controlling personality.

We're quite possibly the most quirky, ridiculous friend group APS has seen. And the best part: nobody saw it coming.

If any of the three of you are reading this (which let's be honest, none of you read) I wanted to let you know how much I appreciate all of you.

I hope everybody reading this has their own friend group that together can laugh as much as Chandler does, love others as much as Ross does, and enjoy the little things in life as much as Phoebe does.

“There is a certain enthusiasm in liberty, that makes human nature rise above itself, in acts of bravery and heroism”. - Alexander Hamilton

On the morning of Monday, November 11th, all Arnold Public School students gathered in the gym to honor all of our country’s brave veterans.

The program was initiated by the Arnold School band playing the Star Spangled Banner. All students and faculty rose to their feet, placed their hands over their hearts, and focused on the American flag as the band played. After this, the 1st grade class led the audience in the pledge of allegiance.

The program included a lot of impactful speeches and demonstrations, including the 6th grade class demonstrating the thirteen folds of the American flag. Two members of the 8th grade class, Delaney Rogers and Bryn Schwarz, presented their award winning Patriot’s Pen essays for the audience as well.

The highlight of the program was Dr. Mary Beshaler who came and gave a speech to the audience about her brave father, Donald Schwab. Schwab served in the United States Army in World War II. He was awarded the highest honor you can receive in the military, the medal of honor. He received this because of his acts of gallantry and intrepidity above the call of duty while serving as the Commander of Company E, 15th Infantry Regiment, 3rd Infantry Division, during combat operations against an armed enemy near Lure, France on September 17, 1944.

New Season of One Acts

By: Kenna Rogers, APS Senior

"Dark was the night when our tale was begun on the dock of Notre Dame."

Twenty-four students held their breath, patiently waiting the announcement! What did head coach Lana Cool have in mind for the drama kids this year? How could we possibly top last year's play? Turns out, she figured it out. The Arnold one-acts team will be performing the Hunchback of Notre Dame.

"Come one, come all." The play is an adaption from Victor Hugo's original novel. Author, Peter Parnell brings the scenes to life with bright colors, emotional moments, and vibrant music from the talented Alan Menken. Quasimodo, our lovable Hunchback, was orphaned at a young age and taken in by the wicked Judge Frollo. Hidden away in the bell tower, Quasi just wants to go out into the world and meet everyone. While out in the world, he meets the alluring Esmeralda. The two realize they have plenty in common, being the social outcast. This heartwarming play will touch all the feels, leaving you wanting more.

The One-Act team is so excited to get started on this wonderful production. This year we have tons of help to make this production run smoothly. Like I previously stated, Lana Cool is the lead director. Our assistant director is Leta Connell. Also we have a marvelous ensemble of volunteer directors: Renee Bubak, Dynette Oberg, and Melissa Sandager, and a plentiful supply of student crew workers. Hope to see everyone at the first performance, November 2nd, in Gothenburg!

Hunchback Takes the Gothenburg Stage

By: Kenna Rogers, APS Senior

The city of Paris came to life on the Gothenburg stage, Saturday November 2, 2019. The lights, the colors, the sounds, and the drama, it all came together! As the Gothenburg Director said, “Your group is known for bringing it, and you brought it.”

“Our thespians and crew showed up and brought it, just like every year. But there is always room for improvement, and trust me, improvement there will be,” said APS senior, Dylan Nelson.

We had many outstanding actors, Dylan Nelson, Landyn Cole, Jesse Connell, Kenna Rogers, and Dawson Hanna- Miles. But not only that we also had a few actors/actresses make All-Star Cast. Such as, Dylan Nelson, Reagan Cool, and Kenna Rogers. The group as a whole placed second in best drama.

“Our cast and crew did an outstanding job for their first performance of the Hunchback of Notre Dame. They are a dedicated team, and have been working incredibly hard early mornings and late evenings. Their hard work paid off with a strong showing opening weekend of One Acts season,” said Head Director Lana Cool.

The One Acts team is excited to continue on with their season and polish up their show.

You can catch your favorite

South Loup teams on community nights, Callaway Monday November 11, and Arnold Friday November 15.

Thespians Take on Community

By: Kenna Rogers, APS Senior

Every year, the South Loup One Act teams put on community nights. One hosted by Callaway and one by Arnold.

This year the Callaway One Acts team spooked us with their production of “Fighting Demons.” A play consisting of a group of teenagers fighting with their inner demons. The Callaway crew touched us with their strong characters and amazing ensemble.

In contrast to the darkness of Callaways play, the Arnold thespians brought the Disney classic, The Hunchback of Notre Dame, to life. The emotion, the colors, the laughs, and another great performance by the students.

Both schools had strong performances Monday and Friday. You can catch the South Loup teams Thursday the 21st for MNAC, in Arnold.

From the Principal’s Desk

As we head into December I look back on how great of a semester it has been. I have enjoyed seeing our students participate in many activities. On October 30th, we had a K-12 catapult building and launching competition. Students were actively engaged throughout today. It was a great sight to able watch all of our students participate in a common project and cheer one another on.

I am especially proud of our student’s efforts this 1st quarter to meet their AR goal. It was exciting to see all students K-12 work toward a common goal. “Eat or Wear It” was certainly a fun event. I must say the blended TV dinner and raw egg were the toughest to put down. Fun was had by all, and I was glad the kids opted for the ice cream bars instead wearing the gallon of ice cream!

The winter season has arrived. As the temperatures turn cold, students in grades K-5 will continue to go outside for recess as the weather permits. Please make sure your child has gloves, stocking caps, and coats to be prepared for colder conditions.

School closings and late start announcements will be communicated via phone call, text message, and email from our Blackboard Connect system once again this year. Please be sure the office has your most current contact information. School closing information will also be posted through local stations, Schoology, and our social media accounts as well.

If your child is going to absent for any reason, please make sure you notify the office as soon as possible. If your child needs to leave during the school day for any reason, the school needs to be notified and students need to check with the office before they leave school grounds. Also, if your child is late or absent because of an illness, they are not allowed to participate in any extra-curricular activities that day.

MNAC Vocal Clinic

By: Kenna Rogers, APS Senior

That time of year again, everything is in full swing. One acts, the beginning of basketball, wrestling, cheer, and music.

November 4, all the choral groups of the East and West, joined in the Stapleton gym for this years MNAC vocal clinic. MNAC is not a completion, but a wonderful concert with multiple students.

Cozad's Jr.- Sr. vocal coach, Stacie Blackmore, did an excellent job of controlling and teaching all the kids from the 12 schools for nine hours.

The MNAC choir preformed six songs. Starting with, "Tongo" a traditional canoeing Polynesian folk song. Then the girls' song "Give Us Hope" by Jim Papoulis, a simplistic, powerful song, about wanting to be heard. Boys' were next with the comedic relief with a song about pirates. The boys even dressed up with bandanas, eye patches, and swords.

After all that commotion the choral groups preformed "Blue Skies," a jazzy piece about being happy and having no more blue days.

Next came Sing, the song that touched the audience. Composed by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Gary Barlow, the original piece was made up of thousands of voices from all around the world. The voices come into union and sound like one big voice. It is truly an inspirational song about coming together in song and becoming one.

Blackmore ended her program with a song titled Armed Forces- the Pride of America. The piece was the most complicated the students performed. The song was a medley of the branches of armed force's hymns. It ended with the pledge and the Star Spangled Banner. Blackmore wanted to recognize those in the crowd that had served, so she asked Andrew Furrow to announce the branches during the song and asked them to rise as the students sang their theme.

It was yet another long day that ended in success. With Christmas being right around the corner, your Arnold choir is practicing for their December concert.

Making a Jr. High Clean Sweep

By: Jace Connell, APS Senior

The South Loup Jr. High football team made a clean sweep of their schedule this year, ending the season 5-0.

Coaching the team this year was Clay Mohr, Mike Weverka, and Todd Phelps. Coach Mohr being the head coach, while Coach Weverka and Coach Phelps were assistants. Coach Phelps was a new football coach this year for the Jr. High along with his new coaching job with the high school as well.

The team stacked up well with some big lineman in 8th graders Joey Sallach and Rio Remund. These two played a key role in helping the team win their games this year.

Along with line came some tough running backs. These backs were 8th grader Trey Connell at quarterback, 8th grader Cache Gracey at tail back, and 7th grader AJ Starr at fullback.

When asked what he thought the team learned this most throughout this season Connell said, "I think the team learned that hard work pays off and I think we can use that to help us as we enter high school."

Operation Christmas Child

By: Landyn Cole, APS Junior

The 2019 Operation Christmas Child packing party was held at Arnold Public Schools on Monday, November 18. APS students got to join in on the fun. Younger kids, with the help of older students, were able to pack boxes for kids in need.

Olivia Doggett picking out colorful stickers to put in her box.

They exceeded their goal to pack 700 boxes, packing 729. The day ran smooth and efficient, and they finished packing 1 and 1/2 hours early.

The packages will be shipped all over the world, and each box costs $9.00 to ship. "The Pastors of the Ministerial Association have been working to raise money to help with the shipping costs and we accept donations as well," said Melody Jennings, one of the coordinators for this program.

Halie Recoy helping Maverick Bierman pack his box.

From Arnold the boxes have a long journey to arrive at their destination. First, they go to the drop off site in North Platte. They are then taken to the processing center in Denver, where each box is inspected to ensure each box is filled with appropriate items. From Denver, they typically go to Mexico and South America, but the boxes can be shipped to other locations as well.

This year's packing party may be over, but donations are still enthusiastically accepted. "People can deposit money at the bank into the Ministerial Association account," said Jennings.

The beauty behind Operation Christmas Child is that everybody can be involved. It is a project that the whole community of Arnold can be a part of. The Baptist, Catholic, Last Call Ministries, Methodist, and Tallin churches are a big part of making this project possible.

Thank you to everyone that donated money, items, or their time!

Coke Cap Collection

You can help out the school by collecting your Coke product bottle caps and numbers on the inside of Coke product boxes. We accept caps and cardboard cutouts from the products you get from convenience stores, the grocery stores, vending machines, at ball games, and other places that may all have the promotional codes on them. Coca-cola committed itself to supporting education by enabling schools to collect donated points and then redeem them for a variety of school rewards including playground equipment, supplies, classroom materials, cameras, sound equipment, and more. You can send your Coke caps (and other Coke products) to the school office and they will redeem them. For more information, you can go to the <http://www.mycokerewards.com/schools>. Thank you for your support.
